Orientation process for the College of Architecture and Landscape Architecture

Students transferring into the five-year Bachelor of Architecture professional degree program at the School of Architecture should contact Sasha Wilson, AIA, Undergraduate Academic Advisor, at s1wilson@email.arizona.edu to set up an appointment. Students wishing placement into the Professional Phase of the program need to provide a DVD portfolio of their work for faculty evaluation. Students transferring from programs that are not NAAB-accredited architecture programs cannot be placed in courses beyond the Foundation (Pre-Professional) year.

Orientation process for the College of Education

The College of Education teacher certification programs in Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, and Cross-Categorical/Special Education K-12, and non-teaching majors in Deaf Studies and Rehabilitation. Students who are interested in teaching English, History, Political Science, or languages at the high school level can apply for Teach Arizona, a one-year masters certification program. All students in the College start out as pre-education majors and receive their advising in the College’s Office of Student Services. Your advisor can assist you with our application process into our teaching majors.

Transfer students interesting in joining the College of Education must first complete our on-line General Information Session, located here: http://www.coe.arizona.edu/mycoe

After completing this, please call our advising office at (520) 621-7865 to schedule an advising appointment. The college of Education does not have a specific transfer orientation day; students receive advising, assistance with registration, and other pertinent information during there advising appointment.

We encourage transfer students to complete the General Information session and schedule an advising appointment as soon as possible.

Orientation process for the Eller College of Management

New transfer students admitted to the Eller College are required to attend a college specific orientation program. Please visit the following site to sign up: http://www.ugrad.eller.arizona.edu/transferorientation/

Orientation process for the College of Engineering

The first step for transfer students admitted to an engineering major to begin transitioning into the College of Engineering is to email Jo Silva, silvaj@email.arizona.edu, point of contact for the college. Ms. Silva will review and evaluate transfer coursework for University of Arizona General Education equivalencies and check for hold flags that may prevent students from being able to register for classes during their enrollment period. Students must include their UA student ID# and the name of the engineering degree program they were admitted to in the email request for a Transfer Evaluation. Students will receive a Welcome email from Jo containing their major advisor contact information, the status of their general education requirements and instructions regarding hold flags.

Transfer students interested in admission to the College who have not applied
Admission into any of the engineering degree programs offered by the College of Engineering is determined in a review process separate from that used by the Office of Admissions. Students can be admitted to the University of Arizona, but denied admission to the College. Transfer students must choose a specific engineering program on their UA application. You will find links to those programs listed here. College of Engineering admission requirements can be found on the engineering website.

Transfer students who were denied admission but would like to apply in a later semester

Students who were denied can reapply as continuing students once they have passed 12 UA units in required engineering coursework and met the Advanced Standing GPA for the desired engineering degree program. The form and requirements for requesting a change of major/college can also be found on the engineering website under the Current Students tab, Academic Policies and Procedures link on the right hand side of the page. The form can also be downloaded, or picked up and submitted in the Academic Affairs Office, room 200 in the historic engineering bldg. located next to the student union.

Orientation process for the College of Fine Arts

The College of Fine Arts Transfer Students must attend an orientation. To reserve your spot please email transfer@cfa.arizona.edu. Please include your name, student ID number, major, email and phone number. You will receive your confirmation via email.

Orientation process for the College of Humanities
